

GOVERNOR GLENN'S
STIRRING MESSAGE

Urges Legislation Compelling
Railroads to Pay Taxes at Money-Borrowing Valuation.

TO INCREASE SALARIES

Wants Governor Paid $6,000,
Says Own Expenses Are Much in Excess of Pay.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., January 10.—The reading of his biennial message in person by Governor R. B. Glenn was decidedly the feature of the second day's session of the General Assembly, and was preceded in the House by an afterglow of the sensational opposition that developed yesterday evening to the resolution granting the request of the Governor to be permitted to read his own message to the joint session. This was the filing of a protest by Morton, of New Hanover, against the action of the House in granting the request, and the giving of notice by Galloway, of Greene, and Lockhart, of Anson, that they would file similar protests for themselves and other members, all to be recorded on the journal. The purpose of these protests is that the Governor's action is contrary to the Constitution and an unwarranted innovation.

Freely Applaud Him.
The Governor was freely applauded when he was escorted to the Speaker's chair for the reading of his message to the joint session, and the message was well received. In the session of the House this afternoon, following the reading of the message, a number of important bills were introduced, notably one by Bickett, of Franklin, to provide for mental defectives by creating a hospital commission, composed of the superintendents of the three hospitals and four business men, to purchase one thousand acres of land, on which to establish a colony system to care for epileptics and other insane; also five hundred acres for a colored colony. Further, that additional lands be purchased and buildings provided at each of the three hospitals sufficient for twenty years' needs. For all this, a five hundred thousand dollar bond issue is to be made at three per cent.

Another bill, by Bickett, is designed to make it unnecessary for a woman to testify in public where criminal assault is charged.

Laughinghouse, of Pitt, introduced a bill this afternoon to abolish second-class railroad fare, and fix the rate at two cents a mile, with no reduction for mileage books.

The Governor's Message.

It reviews the whole scope of the affairs of State, with special recommendations as to tax reform, railroad regulation and reduction of passenger and freight rates, control of insurance business, restriction of child-labor, promotion of public education, the question of reformatory and suppression of the use of cigarettes, opium, cocaine and sale of "dope" drinks at soda fountains, all of which he declares war and destroy moral stamina, the care of insane and enlargement of capacity of hospitals, as all insane cannot be cared for, and last, but not least, urges that there be a State bond issue of $2,000,000 at 3 or 3 1/2 per cent, to run thirty years, the proceeds to be used in putting all public buildings and institutions, especially those for the care of the afflicted, in first-class condition, and sufficient in capacity for requirements for years to come.

Enlarge State-House.

In connection with the bond issue the Governor recommends that $700,000 be expended on the enlargement of the State House, there being, he declares, plans by which the enlargement can be made and not in the least impair the present architectural beauty, but make it more imposing and stately, and provide much needed additional room for State offices, legislative committee rooms and fireproof quarters for valuable State records.

The Governor's message is a document of forty-six closely printed pages. Briefly stated the principal features and recommendations are given below:

Introduction.

Never has the State experienced such prosperity, advancement, agriculturally, industrially, educationally and morally, as at present. The credit of the State is at its highest; practically every citizen, with assets in excess of liabilities, with seemingly no further danger of the State being harassed by conspirators seeking to collect old repudiated bonds.

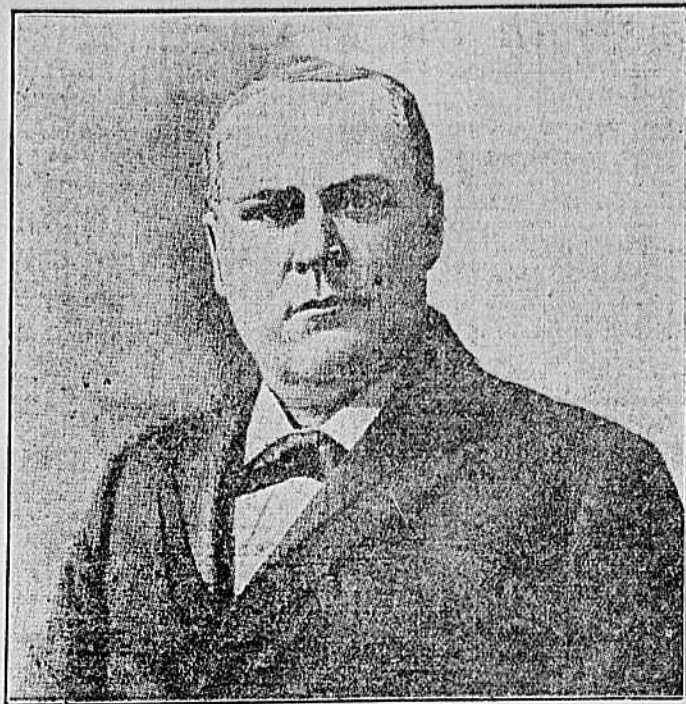

Taxation.

This law should be so revised as that there can be throughout the State a uniform rule whereby property shall be assessed for taxation at its true money value. If this were done, instead of tax valuations in the State aggregating $40,000,000, the grand total would be a billion dollars, making possible a much lower rate of taxation. Amend the law so list-takers shall make every taxpayer give, under oath, all his realty, wherever situated, at its true money value, the list-taker to take testimony of others touching the value of the property where thought advisable, and submit the whole report to the board of equalization by whom the valuation shall be finally fixed. That the sheriffs of the counties be required to collect all special taxes of the State, and that State taxes from the counties be made to fall due at the same time.

Railroads.

Require railroads to pay taxes on their property at the same valuation at which they borrow money on it. Abolish second-class fare and fix the rate at two and a half cents per mile and mileage books at two cents.

Pass some law remedying the loss of

GOVERNOR R. B. GLENN,
North Carolina Executive, who insisted on reading his message to the General Assembly, and was received with applause.

time the public suffers waiting for delayed trains.

Set a limit to hours of service performed by railroad employees and make it criminal carelessness for railroad officials to fail, after reasonable time is allowed to improve roadbeds that the Corporation Commission has pronounced unsafe.

Prohibit the recovery of damages for death or injury in cases where persons walk on railroad tracks or cross them except at regular crossings.

Amplify the powers of the Corporation Commission for regulating rates, preventing discriminations, require close connections of trains of different roads, to require roads to run on schedule time or pay penalties, to require interchangeable mileage books, and power to enforce orders by collecting penalties or contempt proceedings.

In interstate matters the commission should be required to make official investigations and carry the cases to the Interstate Commission. Empower the commission also to control telephone systems and express companies more effectively.

Insurance.

It is not fair for insurance companies to collect mid-year premiums over $500,000 annually to enrich and build up their home States at North Carolina's expense. Therefore require foreign companies to invest in solvent North Carolina securities an amount equal at least to fifty per cent. of the premiums collected in the State or require all companies doing business in the State to make a deposit in North Carolina securities of not less than $50,000 or more than $500,000, according to the business of the company.

Adopt a uniform industrial policy to put a stop to frauds that have been practiced by companies doing business in the State, forbid any insurance company, singly or using policy-holders' money for corrupt purposes to do business in the State. Require all companies to distribute annually its dividends among its policy-holders.

In fire insurance collect a reasonable per cent. on all premiums for the benefit of the State Firemen's Association for a fund to aid the injured, widows and children of those killed in the service.

Jamestown Exposition.

Vote an additional $25,000 appropriation, making $50,000 in all, for the State representation, so that a showing commensurate with the dignity of the State may be made, thoroughly advertising her resources. The State building will cost $18,000 and its maintenance $1,200, leaving only $30,000 of the original $50,000 for the exhibit, hence the necessity for the additional $25,000.

State National Guard.

Increase the salary of the Adjutant-General to $1,500, and require him to reside in Raleigh. Allow each company commander $30 for looking after the property of the company. Increase the military fund to $25,000.

Public Roads.

Enact a general up-to-date road law, allowing any county or community to vote on the issuance of bonds, the State to aid in road-building in every possible way.

The Whiskey Question.

The Watters and Ward acts have accomplished much in bringing about sobriety, peace and good order. Later, I may have something more to say about this question, but at present will advise that no backward step be taken.

Education.

The recommendations of the State Superintendent for appropriations for summer schools, the continuance of the $300,000 for public schools and a mild compulsory school law to be put in effect by vote of the people of localities are endorsed. He cannot endorse the recommendation of the State Superintendent that $100,000 be appropriated for the encouragement of establishing public high schools. He commends the needs of the State University, Agricultural and Mechanical College, State Normal and Industrial College, Culpeper High School, the colored normal schools and the Oxford Orphanage to the best graces of the Assembly.

Salaries.

Increase the Governor's salary to $6,000. Also increase salaries of Attorney-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction. Increase wages of department employees at least ten or fifteen per cent. He says his own expenses as Governor have been at least $5,000 greater than his salary.

Wise Dad.

Will your father permit you to take your father away when you marry? He says he will insist on it.

Now They Don't Speak.

Miss Antiqua had four proposals of marriage on New Year's Day. Miss Claustrine—Must have been a very persistent man.

CANDY MAKER GIVES AWAY WHOLE TOWN

Makes Over Beautiful Montreat, in North Carolina, to Presbyterian Synod.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., January 9.—John S. Huyler, of New York, and the Rev. Dr. J. R. Howerton, of Charlotte, N. C., are in Asheville to arrange for the closing of the deal by which Montreat, the famous religious colony, established by Mr. Huyler, on the beautiful Swannanoa River, eighteen miles from Asheville, becomes the property of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina.

There are 500 persons from all sections of the country who will build summer homes at this beautiful resort, which comprises over 3,500 acres. Most of the purchasers, naturally, are Presbyterians, and many notable Presbyterian assemblies will undoubtedly be held at Montreat.

CHANGES ITS MIND.

Grand Jury First Brought in True Bill, Then Changed It.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., January 10.—The grand jury in the Wake Superior Court returned a true bill to-day against R. B. Parrish, night watchman at the Seaboard Air Line depot, for killing Brakeman Dempsey, of Norfolk, and then later changed to a "not true bill." So Parrish goes free.

The court allowed J. Arthur McKinzie, the young man recently arrested at Richmond on the charge of stealing mileage books from the Seaboard, to enter a plea of forcible trespass and pay a fine of $50.

FRITZI SCHEFF FOUND A MAN IN HER ROOM

Charming Little Cantatrice Creates Much Excitement and Intruder is Forcibly Ejected.

ST. LOUIS, MO., January 10.—There was wild excitement in the Jefferson Hotel this afternoon when Fritzi Scheff, the famous singing and dancing star, was being escorted to her room. "Mlle Modiste" at the Olympic Theatre, came bounding down two flights of stairs and into the office, screaming that there was a man lurking around her room and she was afraid of him.

The clerk, at the head of half a dozen bellboys, rushed upstairs, where they found an unknown man in the corridor on which the room of the actress opened. He was immediately taken in charge and escorted down to the street. He declined to give his name or the reason for his presence in the hotel.

The stranger was not turned over to an officer, upon the request of the actress, but was hurried to the front door and forcibly ejected from the hotel. His movements up Twelfth Street being greatly accelerated by athletic attaches of the hotel.

Fritzi Scheff was then escorted to her room by the clerk, expressing relief over the removal of the intruder.

CROWD APPLAUDS
JURY'S VERDICT

Joseph Harris Acquitted of Murder of Maynard Goss, and Every One Glad.

MRS. GOSS ON THE STAND

But Judge Would Not Let Her Tell What Was in Letter Harris Wrote.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DURHAM, N. C., January 10.—To-night at 7 o'clock the jury in the case of Joseph B. Harris, charged with the murder of Maynard Goss, whose trial has been in progress for the past two days, rendered a verdict of not guilty. Prolonged applause rang from the courtroom, this being the first occurrence when the attendants have applauded in the history of the courts of Durham county. The defendant, Harris, was charged with murdering Goss on December 1st. It has been a tedious case to try and has been hard fought. It was the opinion of many of the people that it would be impossible for the case to reach the jury to-day, but rapid progress has been made in the court, and the case was given to the twelve men shortly after 6 o'clock.

The arguments of the attorneys were very able. The people seemed to be confident that there would be a hung jury after the case was in their hands. Joseph Harris, the defendant, has shown a clean record from the beginning to the end of the trial.

Peculiar Character.

The murdered man, Goss, was a peculiar character. He possessed ways that made for him a number of friends, and yet he had a number of enemies. He had been the life of the party on many of his occasions, and the acquitted man was so afraid of him that he actually left the city and went to other parts in North Carolina to secure a position, but did not find any that would support his family, and returned to Durham.

There was a sensational turn made in the case to-day, when Mrs. Goss, the murdered man's wife, was called to the witness stand. The people were eager to hear the contents of the note that Harris wrote Mrs. Goss, this being some two years ago. It has been intimated that this was the cause of the shooting, and Harris, in giving his testimony, stated he had forgotten what he wrote to Mrs. Goss.

Solicitor Brooks asked the question, and she would have readily told what she remembered of the contents, but the defense strongly protested, and Judge Justice overruled the question. The acquittal of Harris closes one of the most interesting cases ever tried in this county.

The court-room has been crowded both days with people from all over the country.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., January 10.—Fletcher Harris, George Stevens and Albert Adkins were sent on to the grand jury from the Mayor's Court to-day on the charge of having robbed James H. Thomas, of Roanoke, whose dead body was found in a ravine near the city on January 2nd.

Thomas he said, went to sleep in a field, and Harris and Adkins rifled his pockets and gave him part of the money.

DR. LAWS SPEAKS IN W. M. C. A. HALL

Distinguished Baltimore Minister Delivers Live Lecture on Travels in Europe.

The audience which assembled in the W. M. C. A. Hall last night to hear the Rev. Dr. Curtis L. Laws' illustrated lecture on "Holland, the Rhine and Switzerland" was not as large as the eloquent and instructive discourse deserved, but it was a cultured and highly appreciative gathering.

Dr. Laws was introduced by Rev. Mr. Ball, of this city, and without any preliminary or explanatory remarks he proceeded with the subject in hand. The lecture was simply the story of the speaker's travels last summer in the picturesque lands he so eloquently described. From the beginning to the end the lecture was illustrated with magnificent stereoscopic views of the interesting parts of Holland, the splendid castles and other scenes along the Rhine, and the grand scenery of Switzerland. The eloquence of the lecturer and his rare descriptive powers enabled the beholder to see Holland, the Rhine and Switzerland almost as plainly, and certainly as intelligently, as if he had made the trip himself.

Dr. Laws will lecture again tonight and will take his hearers on a magnificent trip through England, Scotland and Wales, just as he made the journey last summer.
